

Emerging Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs): 2009-10

The mission of Excelencia in Education is to accelerate Latino student success in higher education. A critical set of institutions enrolling Latino students is Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs).

Over half of all Latino undergraduate students in higher education (54%) are enrolled in less than 10 percent of institutions in the United States identified as Hispanic-serving Institutions (HSIs).

Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs) are defined in federal law as accredited and degree-granting public or private nonprofit institutions of higher education with 25 percent or more total undergraduate Hispanic full-time equivalent student enrollment.¹

The defining characteristic of HSIs is their Hispanic enrollment, not their institutional mission. While there were 293 institutions that met the HSI enrollment criteria in 2009-10, there were also 204 institutions that had between 15 and 24 percent undergraduate full-time equivalent Hispanic enrollment. These institutions are identified as emerging HSIs.

Summary of the 2009-10 Emerging HSI List

While emerging HSIs do not have the critical mass of Latino student enrollment required to meet the definition of an HSI, these institutions may soon meet the criteria as their enrollment grows and Latino representation increases. The following list of emerging HSIs was created using data from the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS).²

² IPEDS is a system of surveys designed to collect from all primary providers of postsecondary education institution-level data and is maintained by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), U.S. Department of Education.
