

Excelencia in Action is the newest initiative from Excelencia in Education.

Selected institutions were invited to form a network of professionals from affiliated colleges and universities working to increase Latino student success, and all students' success in higher education.

Launched in September 2011, Excelencia in Action is designed to provide affiliated institutions with:

- Means to chart the course of the nation's college completion plan with Latino students at the forefront of accountability
- Direct access to the national college completion agenda
- A community of colleges and universities that actively promote student success for all
- Early access to Excelencia research and analysis to help you and your institution advance the Latino college completion agenda
